Extra Life 2011

Written by Starfox Thursday, 06 October 2011 16:02

It's time for the fourth edition of the Extra Life gaming event that happens each year on October 15 since its inception in 2008. As every year one of our members, Marshall Lemon AKA " FangHawk", will be participating in order to raise funds for helping children in medical care. This year, Marshall set a reasonable goal of $250 which is already well on its way (and if it goes well beyond that it will be perfectly fine too; the more the better). If you'd want to help reach and hopefully break the goal, we conveniently placed a banner for the event on the left of this page that will take you to Marshall's profile.

The funds raised this year will go to the organization chosen by each participant and Marshall's choice organization this year is the SickKids Foundation.

As a gamer you can also participate in the event by signing-up with Extra Life. The only thing you need is the will to play games for 24 hours straight...

Let's make it happen!